Organizational Summary

BREAK THE SILENCE, END TEEN DATING VIOLENCE

Rianna's Voice is a 501(c)(3) nonprofit organization dedicated to educating teens and families, preventing teen dating violence, and ensuring young people know they are not alone, that their voices matter, and that they deserve to be heard.

Organization Overview

Organization Name: Rianna's Voice

Legal Status: 501(c)(3) nonprofit organization

Founded: September 2024

Slogan: Break the Silence, End Teen Dating Violence

Mission Statement:

Rianna's Voice is a nonprofit, volunteer organization committed to educating the community by providing information and resources to teenagers and parents dealing with teen dating violence.

Rianna's Voice exists to ensure that young people know they are not alone, that their voices matter, and that they deserve to be heard. Through education, awareness, and community outreach, the organization works to prevent teen dating violence and support teens and families with the tools and knowledge they need to stay safe.

The Need

Teen dating violence is a serious and often hidden issue affecting young people in communities everywhere. Many teens experience abuse, control, or manipulation in relationships without recognizing the warning signs or knowing where to turn for help. Fear, shame, and silence often keep victims from speaking up, allowing harmful situations to continue unchecked.

Parents, educators, and community members also frequently lack clear, accessible resources to help them recognize the signs of unhealthy relationships or respond effectively when a young person needs support. Rianna's Voice was created to help close this gap—by bringing honest, age-appropriate education into schools and communities, encouraging open conversations, and making sure teens and families know they are not alone and that help is available.

Our Story

Rianna's Voice was founded in memory of Rianna and in response to a tragedy that no family should ever have to endure. Out of profound loss came a powerful commitment: to protect other young people, to raise awareness about teen dating violence, and to make sure no teen feels trapped in silence or without support.

The organization channels that commitment into action—transforming grief into purpose and advocacy into education. Rianna's Voice stands as both a tribute and a promise: that awareness can save lives, that education can change outcomes, and that every teen deserves safety, respect, and a voice.

What We Do

Rianna's Voice focuses on prevention, education, and awareness through community-based programs and outreach, including:

- School Presentations: Age-appropriate, engaging presentations that educate students about healthy relationships, warning signs of abuse, and how to seek help.
- Community Outreach & Awareness: Participation in community events, awareness campaigns, and partnerships that bring conversations about teen dating violence into the open.
- Educational Resources: Development and distribution of informational materials for teens, parents, and educators.
- Support & Referral Focus: Helping connect teens and families with appropriate resources and encouraging help-seeking behavior in a safe, nonjudgmental way.

As the organization grows, Rianna's Voice plans to continue expanding programs and partnerships to reach more schools, families, and communities.

Who We Serve

Rianna's Voice serves teens and young people who need education, awareness, and support around healthy relationships; parents and guardians seeking tools and information to protect and support their children; schools and community organizations looking for meaningful, prevention-focused programming; and the broader community by promoting awareness and fostering safer environments for youth.

Our Impact

Since its founding, Rianna's Voice has focused on building strong community relationships, delivering educational presentations, and increasing awareness around teen dating violence. The organization's impact is measured not only in the number of students reached, but in conversations started, awareness raised, and lives potentially changed through education and early intervention.

By continuing to expand outreach and partnerships, Rianna's Voice aims to create lasting, community-wide change—where teens feel empowered to speak up, seek help, and expect respect in their relationships.

Why Support Rianna's Voice

Supporting Rianna's Voice means investing in prevention, education, and the safety of young people. Donors, partners, and sponsors help make it possible to bring critical education into schools and communities, expand outreach and awareness efforts, provide resources to teens and families, and build sustainable, long-term prevention programs.

This work is not just about responding to crisis—it's about preventing harm before it happens and creating a future where teens are safer, stronger, and heard.

Leadership & Governance

Rianna's Voice is led by a dedicated volunteer Board of Directors and community advocates who are committed to the organization's mission, transparency, and responsible stewardship. The organization operates as a registered 501(c)(3) nonprofit and is focused on building sustainable programs that serve the community with integrity and compassion.

Closing

Rianna's Voice exists to break the silence surrounding teen dating violence and to replace it with education, awareness, and hope. Through partnerships, community support, and a shared commitment to protecting young people, the organization is working to create a safer future—one conversation, one classroom, and one community at a time.
